“Oh I’ve had many. Oh, this is good. I had been using the gathering foot, showing someone how to do gathers, and you put the gathering foot forward on the machine and you hold your finger behind the foot, to put pressure on it, and then, crinkle it all up. So, I don’t know what happened, but as I was putting my finger, the needle went into my finger. And I had to put it down in the book, isn’t it. And the first aider asked “Is it alright?” “Oh yes”, I said, “it's fine, it's only a bit numb at the top, it’s fine.” “Oh, you've got to go to the doctor.” “I'm not going to the doctor,” I said, “it's fine.” So I went down to the doctor and “Oh, you'll have to go to Aberystwyth for an X-ray.” “What for? There's nothing wrong with it.” There were three holes and a bit of the needle was standing out between the two holes.”
