

Margaret Humphreys VN040

“Well, it wasn't hellish, but yes, it took a while, remember, to get used to it. There were so many in the factory to know everyone. I was one person, isn't it, and everyone else knew me at once, as it were 'Oh, new girl working today, she's from Carno, blah, blah, blah.' But I had to get to know everyone, didn't I. It took some time, yes, quite a bit. And, to tell the truth, families, well from every house, I think, someone worked in Ashleys, husband and wife and children if they'd grown up.”